

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1894.

NO. 58

HON. JAMES B. MCCREARY.

Some of the things our Congressman has done.

He is the author of a bill that established a court to adjudicate and settle land claims growing out of the treaties with Mexico known as the Gadsden treaty and the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo. This was a most important piece of legislation. Since land litigation, under this act, has been determined in local courts, rather than in a little committee room in Washington we have had no scandals like the Maxwell grant and similar grants.

Author of the legislation that resulted in the Pan-American Congress, participated in by all Americas, North, South and Central.

Author of the bill providing for the survey of a railroad connecting the Northern and Southern parts of our hemisphere. That survey has been made and declared to be practical.

He also first suggested the creation of the Department of Agriculture, and was the author of a bill to that end. He introduced the bill placing farming implements on the free list, also mechanics' tools.

He also presented the resolutions with able and exhaustive report, declaring the opposition of the United States to European governmental control of any interoceanic canal across the Isthmus of Darien.

He was the author of that legislation, which he passed over strenuous opposition after a contest of six days, authorizing the president to retaliate upon foreign vessels. This was virile legislation and settled that question.

He secured the legislation under which the International Medical Congress was held in Washington some years ago.

He is the author of the bill amending the Gerry Chinese law, and the McCreary law is a settlement of the vexed Chinese question in our country—a settlement acceptable to both races and both governments. He is the author of the bill to give effect to the Bering Sea award.

But his greatest piece of work was his handling of the Hawaii business the last session of Congress. He pursued the even tenor of his way and passed the resolutions indorsing the administration. For this he received the hearty thanks of the president and the secretary of State.

He was one of the commissioners to represent the United States at the International Monetary Conference held in Europe in 1892 and sustained himself creditably, as he always has done, to whatever station called.

After enumerating these and the other official acts of Gov. McCreary in a letter from Washington to the Courier-Journal, the correspondent asks:

What other Kentuckian in our delegation in either House can equal it, or anywhere approach it? There is no bluster about him; he doesn't bluster. He is not a brass band heading a siege train of artillery; he is quiet and undemonstrative; but the first thing you know, and before you know it, James B. McCreary has gone and done just what he set out to go and do. In this regard John Sherman is the only man in either House of Congress that surpasses him, and John is not as much of an orator as our Jim is either.

In this our new day and generation McCreary is the man for the times—a practical man, an honest man, a firm man, a strong man; a man who never goes off at the half cock and never loses his head.

There is another aspect of the man I have not mentioned. He is the best politician of all of them, and his word is his bond—remember this, young man, and old gentlemen, too—his word is his bond, and that is not only a great thing; but a rare thing—in a statesman.

—Margaret Piester, of Schenectady, N. Y., is in her 93d year and rides a bicycle with as much vim as a 16-year-old. It is said that she recently challenged any woman of her age in the world to ride a bicycle race with her for a prize Bible.

While in Chicago, Mr. Charles L. Kahler, a prominent shoe merchant of Des Moines, Iowa, had quite a serious time of it. He took such a severe cold that he could hardly talk or navigate, but the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured him of his cold so quickly that others at the hotel who had colds followed his example and half a dozen persons ordered it from the nearest drug store. They were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Kahler for telling them how to cure a cold so quickly.

For sale by Dr. S. G. Hecker, druggist, Stanford.

WILLOW GROVE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Mrs. Kemp Sims is recovering from a serious surgical operation.

—William Phillips has rented his place to Nelson Stringer for 1895 at $225.

—Adams' Sulphur Well is apparently the most popular point in this section.

—Mrs. King, I am told, will move to her farm from Danville about Jan. 1st.

—Fountain D. Myers sold to Love T. Lillard 7 calves, 2 sows and 15 pigs for $132.

—A two-year-old negro child at Mr. Dave Logan's swallowed a nail, which caused its death in a short time.

—Mrs. Ann Gastineau has about 100 geese. How some young men I know who attended the Liberty Fair would like to have an opportunity to make burgoo of one or two of this flock.

—A cistern at the school-house is the latest addition to the premises, and since it was superintended by Capt. Robert D. Logan, it is a daisy, for what he does is always done well. It was even so when he was fighting the Yankees a long time ago.

—Misses Sophia and Lizzie Wright, of the West End of Lincoln, have been visiting Misses Lizzie, Maggie and Agnes Gastineau. The latter two had just returned from Somerset. Miss Georgia Lewis is visiting relatives at Turnersville.

—The scholars of Miss Mattie Bosley's school here, 32 in number, had quite an enjoyable picnic among themselves in their teacher's company last Friday. They spread a dinner altogether that almost covered a half acre, and really and truly "had a picnic."

—Guy Hundley has the smallest pony outside of circus. He is 6½ years old, Guy I mean, not the pony, and is absolutely the best equestrian of his age in the country. The pony is just about the size of a shepherd dog and deliberately walks in the house, goes up stairs and otherwise makes itself generally familiar with the inmates of the household.

—It is subject of general remark that Mr. Feland Kenley Tribble is one of the most industrious and successful farmers in the neighborhood. He "keeps things in apple pie order and can do a dozen at once." This is not intended as an advertisement for the young ladies to peruse, but a plain, unvarnished statement of facts.

—SHEPHERD.

—The Ohio democrats in convention adopted a platform, which praises the efficient, economical and honest administration of President Cleveland; declares protection a fraud, and, while recognizing the benefit of the reduction of duties on imports just made by Congress, favors such further reduction as can be made, to the end that purely protective duties be abolished; declares that the McKinley law caused the business depression, reduced the revenue and led to the necessity for issuing more government bonds. Business failures, strikes, low wages, low prices for farm products are enumerated as the result of the McKinley law. Unlimited coinage of silver is advocated at 16 to 1, with equal legal tender power.

—James Leach, of Scott county, a warm friend of W. C. Owens, who had been ill for some time, prayed that he might be spared to vote for that gentleman and had made arrangements to be taken to the polls. His doctor advised him to abandon the idea, but he answered that if he died going or coming it made no difference, he intended to vote.

His death on Friday night before the memorable primary cost Mr. Owens one vote at least.

—A goose with remarkable maternal instinct has been found in Harrison county. Her brood was recently drowned and an old sow, with a litter of 12 pigs died about the same time. The old mother goose has adopted the little orphan pigs and persists in her attention toward them. The family is doing well.

—All records for distance heliograph signaling have been broken by the United States Army Signal Corps, a message having been sent by sun flashes from Mount Uncompahgre, Col., to Mount Ellen, Utah, a distance of 183 miles.

—Dave Goosby, a lecherous Georgia negro, has gone the way all such brutes ought to. He attempted to ravish a young white girl near Thomasville and failing, cut her throat. A mob took him from the jail and broke his neck.

—In 1892 the county of Jefferson, or the Fifth Congressional district, cast 20,915 votes for Cleveland, 13,454 for Harrison, 551 for Bidwell and 358 for Weaver. Cleveland's plurality 7,461. For Congress, Caruth's plurality was 6,678.

—As Engineer Tom Carter was oiling his engine on a trestle at Lonesome Valley, on the Knoxville and Cumberland, a sudden lurch of the engine threw him over, and he fell 150 feet. He was dead when picked up.

—Louisville and Nashville earnings for two weeks of September show an increase of $102,398 over the same period last year, but $87,530 under those of 1892.

ROWLAND.

—Eliha Pence is painting Tom Ball's residence. John Cordier and Hallis Carrier have built a large shop, near the post-office, for blacksmithing and wagon-making.

—Mr. Charles S. Keisling was thrown from a freight car near Brodhead, on Wednesday, receiving two painful but not dangerous wounds. Dr. Peyton was called to dress them.

—We see from your last issue that Gov. McCreary will speak in your town court day in October. We hope he will make an appointment for this place, as there are a few who need an old fashioned dose of democracy.

—Master Tommy Shelton bought a young Montana colt for $250. Peter Hamton has received a new piano wagon and plenty of elegant instruments and proposes to furnish music to the public; but we feel that he would sustain the same relation to one of them that a monkey does to a grinding organ.

—Notwithstanding the financial pressure, there are many reasons why we should rejoice. First, God has bestowed upon us all needed blessings, including a refreshing rain; the Japs have gained another victory over the Chinese, and last, though not least, Owens has defeated Breckinridge. We see no room for grumbling. The man who is not pleased at this is a chronic kicker and would not be satisfied with gold nails in his coffin.

—Mrs. Lizzie Carter has returned from Lebanon Junction. Mrs. Andrews, of Corbin, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Adams. Mrs. George Pope is visiting friends at Livingston. Miss Alice Stagner, of Lowell, is with Mrs. Vandever. Mr. Jeff Barnes has returned from Missouri. Mrs. Umberston has gone to New York to see her brother, who is very sick. Her husband accompanied her as far as Louisville. L. C. Land, of Louisville, is the guest of his brother, Robert Land.

IN MEMORIAM.

WHEREAS, we have just received the sad news of the death of our respected friend and beloved brother, Rev. John Bell Gibson, who died at his home in Stanford, Sept. 14, 1894, and whereas it has pleased the infinite and allwise God to take him from our church, and a life of usefulness here on earth to that home which is prepared for the finally faithful, be it therefore resolved.

1st. That the Christian church of Barbourville has by the sudden death of our beloved brother lost a useful and devoted member and most successful and proficient minister.

2nd. That while he labored with us in October and November 1893 many were led by him to confess their Savior and although death has asserted her claims and removed him from our midst, he will yet live in our memory and be loved by us.

3rd. That we extend to his beloved family and relations in this their time of great sorrow, our deepest and heartfelt sympathy and offer them the consoling thought, that though he be gone from earth, he lives in Heaven.

4th. That each of us strive to live as pure and holy a life as he and meet him at last in that land where death shall never enter.

5th. That a copy of these resolutions be spread at large upon our church register, one be sent to the Knox County News, Interior Journal and Christian Guide and one be forwarded immediately to the bereaved family.

Dan H. Williams, Henry W. Bowman, John G. Matthews, committee. Sept. 16, 1894.
